

2018 TRAVEL & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SCHOLARSHIPS

Apply by March 4, 2018 here

Arthur A. & Florence G. Fisher Traveling Scholarship $5,000

This scholarship for travel and study was first presented in 1967 by Arthur and Florence Fisher. Arthur A. Fisher, AIA, the son of an early Colorado Architect, was a talented designer and highly respected architect. He and his wife were ardent travelers and valued the influence that travel had on the education process. He was President of AIA Colorado from 1920 to 1921 and practiced architecture in Denver from 1906 to 1959.

Eligibility; must be either:

- An architectural intern residing in Colorado
- An architect licensed by and residing in Colorado
- A faculty member at the University of Colorado Denver, College of Architecture & Planning (CAP)

Additional Application Evaluation Criteria:

- New areas of research are preferred over subject matter already researched
- A humanistic or concept-oriented research is preferred over a "hardware" approach
- Possibility of research being carried further if applicant already has established background in proposed area
- Foreign research preferred over USA research which may be more likely funded from other sources
- If awarded to a faculty member, he/she must return to the University of Colorado Denver CAP faculty for one year
- Preference will be given to AIA members, university faculty and students

James M. Hunter, FAIA Scholarship $2,500

This scholarship for graduate study or travel has been presented since 1985 and is awarded to a qualified member of the design community to study the architecture of the Americas. James M. Hunter, FAIA, was a respected Colorado architect and President of the AIA Colorado from 1952 to 1953 and again in 1970. He practiced Architecture in Boulder from 1940 to 1976.

Eligibility; must be either:

- A faculty member from the University of Colorado
- An architect licensed by and residing in Colorado

Additional Application Evaluation Criteria:

- The applicant's potential for contribution through the profession of architecture must be stated
- Financial need shall not be a consideration for this scholarship
- Preference will be given to AIA members, university faculty and students

Hobart D. Wagener, FAIA Traveling Scholarship $6,000

The Hobart D. Wagener, FAIA Award for travel study will be presented to honor the architectural contributions of Hoby Wagener from 1948 to 1985. Hoby had a life-long love of travel for the purpose of studying the art of architecture. He felt all aspects of artistic expression, from the grand cathedrals to archeological sites to the indigenous architecture of the world, influence one's vision of design.

Eligibility; must be either:

- A Colorado resident and architecture graduate from any accredited school by September of the year the award is granted
- A graduate from an accredited architecture school that is working as an intern in Colorado
- An architect under the age of 40 practicing architecture in Colorado

Additional Application Evaluation Criteria:

- Demonstration of a passion for learning about architecture in another part of the country/world to broaden and influence applicant's design skills
- Preference will be given to applicants showing a strong design orientation – Please include samples of design work in application packet and/or web link to portfolio
- Willingness to attend an award dinner with family and friends of Hoby upon receiving the scholarship
- Willingness to share the travel experience at the following year's Hobart D. Wagener, FAIA Award dinner
- Preference will be given to AIA members, university faculty and students.

The Robert & Virginia Fuller Traveling Scholarship $6,000

This award for travel and study is presented by Robert and Virginia Fuller for the study of Architecture and Urban Design. Of the artifacts that we as architects can affect, few have a greater influence on the human condition than the communities we create. The intent of this award is to provide the recipient the opportunity to study and experience the diversity of man-made spaces and develop the skills to enhance the livability and humanity of our communities through design.

Eligibility; must be either:

- A Colorado resident who is a graduate in architecture/urban design at any accredited school in year the award is granted
- A graduate from an accredited architecture school that is working as an intern in Colorado
- An architect under the age of 50 licensed and practicing in Colorado

Additional Application Evaluation Criteria:

- Demonstration of a passion for learning about communities in another part of the country or world to broaden and influence applicant's design skills
- Preference will be given to applicants showing a strong design orientation – Please include samples of design work in application packet and/or web link to portfolio
- Willingness to attend an award dinner/luncheon with the family upon receiving the scholarship
- Preference will be given to AIA Colorado members, university faculty and students

AIA Colorado South Annual Conference Scholarship $700

This scholarship was endowed by members of AIA Colorado South to support a local Assoc. AIA member's participation in AIA Colorado's annual event, the Practice + Design Conference. Scheduled October 11-13 in Keystone Colorado, this event garners high-quality speakers, educational opportunities, networking and exposure to award-winning architects, individuals in related professions, as well as A/E/C industry product and service providers - all important facets of professional development.

Eligibility:

- AIA Colorado South Associate Member in good standing

AIA Denver Leadership Development Scholarship $1,000

This scholarship was endowed by members of AIA Denver to support a local member's participation in a leadership development program. Applicants are requested to describe how the identified program will develop his or her leadership skills.

Eligibility:

- AIA Denver Member in good standing

AIA Colorado West Professional Development Scholarship $1,000

This scholarship was endowed by members of AIA Colorado West to support a local member's participation in a program supporting professional development. Applicants are requested to describe how the identified program supports his or her professional development.

Eligibility:

- AIA Colorado West Member in good standing